

Dr. Austin graduates from Emory University.

Dr. Austin receives a Doctor of Medicine from the University of Alabama (UAB).

Dr. Austin becomes chief resident at the School of Medicine at UAB.

Dr. Austin serves as major and as Chief of Obstetrics and Gynecology at Homestead Air Force Base in Florida.

Dr. Austin becomes a fellow in gynecologic oncology at UAB.

Dr. Austin closes his private practice after 23 years to become a full time professor in the Division of Gynecologic Oncology at UAB.

The J. Max Austin Jr. Professorship of Gynecologic Oncology is established in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology at the University of Alabama at Birmingham, with Dr. Austin being its first recipient.

Dr. Austin is nominated by the Argus Committee (Medical Students) for best faculty teacher in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology at the UAB School of Medicine. He receives a nomination for two more years, and is selected in 2007.

1963

1967

1971

1971

1973

2000

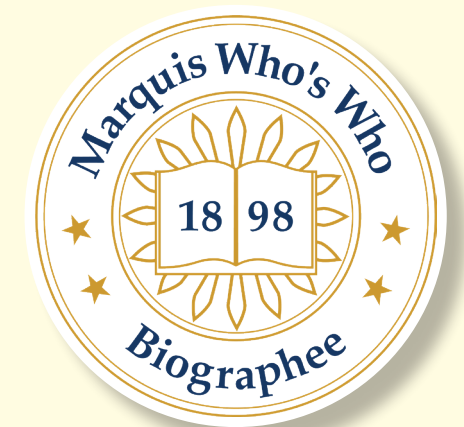

2000

2005

J. Max Austin Jr., MD

alabamamedicalalumni.org/index.php?src=news&srctype=detail&category=Alumni%20Profile&refno=61

A timeline of professional milestones

2006

2008

2009

2010

2010

2012

2015

2019

Dr. Austin is selected by the Birmingham Business Journal as a "Health Care Hero, Physician, and Provider."

Dr. Austin is selected by the Oxford College of Emory University of Board of Counselors for the Carl Chandler Alumnus Award, the highest alumnus award from Oxford College.

Dr. Austin is nominated and selected for the Lifetime Achievement Award by the Elmore County 4-H Club.

Dr. Austin is honored with an Endowed Chair in Gynecologic Oncology at UAB.

Dr. Austin receives the MASA Award and the Paul W. Burleson Award in recognition of distinguished service to county, state and national physician organizations.

Dr. Austin is selected as Significant Sig by the National Sigma Chi Fraternity, the highest award given to Sigma Chi alumni.

Dr. Austin is inducted as a 2015 Alabama Legend in Obstetrics and Gynecology for the Alabama Section of the American Congress of Obstetrics and Gynecology.

Dr. Austin receives the Distinguished Alumnus Award from the Medical Alumni Association of the UAB Medical Center.