

EDWARD H. BOSSEN, MD

Professor of Pathology Emeritus

1939

Born to Morris William BosSEN and Sarah BosSEN in Jacksonville, FL.

1961

Earns a Bachelor of Science from the University of Florida.

1965

Obtains a Doctor of Medicine from Duke University.

1965

Serves in the U.S. Army Reserves until 1970.

1965

Is an intern and resident at Duke University through 1970.

1939

1961

1965

1965

1965

1970

1972

2013

2021

2021

1970

Serves as a major and captain on active duty in the U.S. Army until 1972.

1972

Teaches as a professor of pathology at the Duke University Medical Center until 2013.

2013

Is named professor of pathology emeritus at the time of his retirement.

2021

Maintains membership with the American Medical Association and the North Carolina Medical Society.

2021

Continues to enjoy music and art.

A Timeline of Professional Milestones