

RONALD BROCCHINI

Architect

1929

Born in Oakland, California to Gino Mario and Yoli Louise Brocchini.

1948

Becomes an architect and designer for SMP, Inc. in San Francisco, California.

1953

Receives a Bachelor of Arts in architecture with honors from the University of California, Berkeley.

1953

Serves in the U.S. Army for two years.

1956

Becomes a designer and associate at SMP, Inc.

1957

Marries Myra Mossman.

1957

Receives a Master of Arts in architecture with honors from the University of California, Berkeley.

1961

Becomes an associate architect at Campbell & Wong in San Francisco, California.

1961

Serves as commissioner of the California Board of Architectural Examiners.

1929

1948

1953

1953

1956

1957

1957

1961

1961

1964

1968

1981

1982

1983

1987

1987

1995

2014

1964

Becomes principal architect of Ronald G. Brocchini in Berkeley, California.

1968

Becomes principal architect of Worley K. Wong & Ronald G. Brocchini Associates in San Francisco, California.

1981

Becomes a lecturer at the California College of Arts and Crafts (now California College of the Arts) in Oakland, California.

1982

Authors "Long Range Master Plan for Bodega Marine Biology."

1983

Becomes a member of the examination committee of the National Council Architectural Registration Boards.

1987

Becomes principal architect of Brocchini Architects in Berkeley, California.

1987

Receives the Bear of the Year Award from the University of California, Berkeley.

1995

Receives the Design Honor Award for Architecture from the State of California Department Rehabilitation.

2014

Retires as an architect.

A Timeline of Professional Milestones