

Mr. Chambers is born in Brooklyn, New York to William Robert and Julia Mary Chambers.

Mr. Chambers becomes director of Mystery Writers of American in New York City.

Mr. Chambers contributes "Don't Kill a Karate Fighter" to Mike Shayne's Mystery Magazine.

Mr. Chambers receives a merit from United Way of Tri-County.

Mr. Chambers becomes owner of Chambers Pub.

Mr. Chambers receives the Leadership Award from Communications Workers of America.

Mr. Chambers contributes "Above Reproach" to Over My Dead Body Mystery Magazine.

Mr. Chambers authors "An Ode to Freedom," published by the International Library of Poetry for the Best Poems of the Millennium.

Mr. Chambers contributes "The Rationalist" to Ellery Queen's Mystery Magazine.

Mr. Chambers authors "The Redemption Factor, Republished" and "Death Toll, Republished," published by iUniverse.

1943

1970

1972

1980

1983

1986

1999

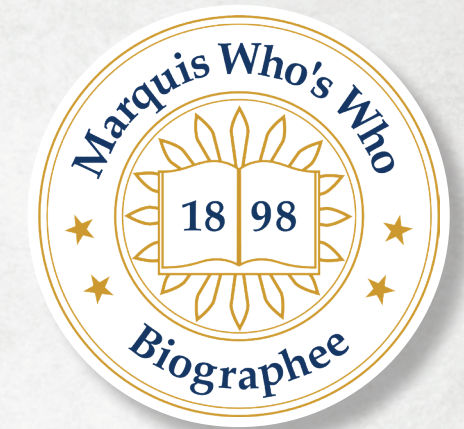

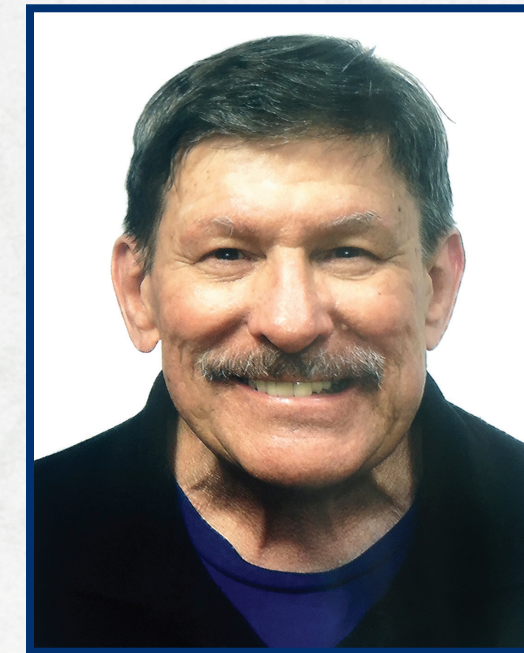

2000

2000

2001

WILLIAM E. CHAMBERS

Mystery Writer

A timeline of professional milestones

2001

2002

2003

2005

2010

2011

2013

2013

2013

2014

Mr. Chambers contributes "Opening Shots Anthology, Volume Two" to Cumberland House.

Mr. Chambers is nominated for the Brooke Russel Astor Award.

Mr. Chambers contributes "Another Night to Remember" to Blood on Their Hands Anthology.

Mr. Chambers authors "The Tormentress," published by Hilliard & Harris Publishers.

Mr. Chambers contributes "Another Night to Remember," to Sherlock Holmes Mystery Magazine #4.

Mr. Chambers contributes "The Curse of Bridges Falls" to Sherlock Holmes Mystery Magazine, Volume Two, #2.

Mr. Chambers authors "Frankie Light Fingers' Times Square Follies," published by Crime Square Anthology Perfect Crime Books.

Mr. Chambers authors "Brenda's Daughter," published in Hardboiled #45 of Gryphon.

Mr. Chambers authors "The Bunny," published in the Kwik Krimes Anthology of Thomas & Mercer.

Mr. Chambers contributes "The Killing of General Patton" and "Rationalist Femme: Punitive Justice" to Sherlock Holmes Mystery Magazine.