

KRZYSZTOF JAN WOJCIECHOWSKI

International Consultant in Virology and Animal Health

1937

Born to Zdzisław Jacek Wojciechowski and Irena Zygryda Wojciechowska in Warsaw, Poland.

1961

Earns a degree as a veterinary surgeon from Warsaw Agricultural University.

1961

Is a microbiologist, mycologist and master of production-fermentation of antibiotics for Polfa Pharmaceuticals until 1962.

1963

Is a research fellow and veterinary faculty member at Warsaw Agricultural University until 1966.

1967

Achieves a Doctor of Veterinary Science in microbiology from Warsaw Agricultural University (SGGW).

1967

Is head of the virology section of the Laboratory of Veterinary Hygiene, Warsaw until 1977.

1974

Earns a Doctor of Science from the National Veterinary Research Institute in Pulawy, Poland.

1974

Serves the Laboratory of Vet. Hygiene as an advisor for Virology Diagnosis to the Ministry of Agriculture until 1977 and as docent assoc. prof. of virology until 1984.

1977

Is a project manager and animal health officer of virology to the Food and Agriculture Organization-United Nations in Kabul, Afghanistan until 1981.

1981

Receives a Letter of Appreciation from the Government of Afghanistan.

1937

1961

1961

1963

1967

1967

1974

1974

1977

1981

1982

1998

2000

2001

2001

2003

2006

2011

2013

2021

1982

Is an animal health officer of virology to the FAO-UN headquarters in Rome, Italy until 1999.

1998

Earns a Mark of Distinction from the Minister of Agriculture and Food Economy in Poland.

2000

Is a freelance international consultant on viral disease control and animal health, based in Poland and Ireland, continuing in the role.

2001

Is named the George C. Poppensiek Visiting Professor in International Veterinary Medicine at Cornell University.

2001

Is a global consultant of the regional tech. cooperation program project in epidemiology for the Balkans with the FAO-UN in Rome, Italy until 2003.

2003

Receives an honorary diploma from the Pan African Veterinary Vaccine Center (PANVAC) in Debre Zeit, Ethiopia.

2006

Receives a Certificate of Appreciation from the Pan African Veterinary Vaccine Center (PANVAC).

2011

Receives the Amicus Veterinariae Medal.

2013

Receives a medal from Warsaw University of Life Sciences (SGGW).

2021

Maintains membership with the Am. Assoc. for the Adv. of Science, Am. Society for Microbiology, Polish Society of Vet. Sci. and UN Staff Members Assoc.

A Timeline of Professional Milestones